For Immediate Release

St. Louis, MO - Primary Marking Systems, Inc's announces eTWIST® Certification of The National Center for Bio-Medical Research & Training, Academy of Counter-Terrorist Education at Louisiana State University, (NCBRT).

Primary Marking announced today The National Center for Bio-Medical Research & Training, Academy of Counter-Terrorist Education at Louisiana State University received Certification to begin using eTWIST® Patent-Pending Mobile Evidence Collection Solution in training classes conducted by the NCBRT. “We are very pleased to help provide leading edge methodologies that advance Mobile Evidence Collection to First Responders” said Brian Capar, President of Primary Marking Systems, Inc. Through training classes provided by the NCBRT, First Responders using eTWIST® and Nikon Cameras are able to provide critical disaster data to Command and Control Centers while still operating in the “Hot Zone”. This “Real Time” data gives Command and Control Centers operational information to more quickly determine processes of containment down range without sacrificing resources.
